

Really Good Business Advice

When Cowboys rode horses and herded Cattle there was a saying that goes like this: "Never squat while wearing your spurs." This was really good business advice in those days, considering that spurs had sharp points on them.

Often times we can relearn some advice that has been proven true over the years.

Will Rogers, who died in a 1935 plane crash, was one of the greatest political sages this country has ever known.

You might enjoy the following thoughts:

1. Never slap a man who's chewing tobacco.
2. Never kick a cow chip on a hot day.
3. There are two theories to arguing with a woman. Neither works.
4. Never miss a good chance to shut up.
5. Always drink upstream from the herd.
6. If you find yourself in a hole, stop digging.
7. The quickest way to double your money is to fold it and put it back into your pocket.
8. There are three kinds of men:
Some learn by reading.
Some learn by observation.
The rest of them have to pee on the electric fence and find out for them self.
9. Good judgment comes from experience, and a lot of that comes from bad judgment.
10. If you're riding ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there.

11. Lettin' the cat outta the bag is a whole lot easier'n than puttin' it back.
12. After eating an entire bull, a mountain lion felt so good he started roaring. He kept it up until a hunter came along and shot him.

The moral: When you're full of bull, keep your mouth shut.

And ABOUT GROWING OLDER...

First: Eventually you will reach a point when you stop lying about your age and start bragging about it.

Second: The older we get, fewer things seem worth waiting in line for.

Third: Some people try to turn back their odometers.
Not me; I want people to know 'why' I look this way.
I've traveled a long way, and some of the roads weren't paved.

Fourth: When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to your youth, think of Algebra.

Fifth: You know you are getting old when everything either dries up or leaks.

Sixth: I don't know how I got over the hill without getting to the top.

Seventh: One of the many things no one tells you about aging is that it's such a nice change from being young.

Eighth: One must wait until evening to see how splendid the day has been.

Ninth: Being young is beautiful, but being old is comfortable.

Tenth: Long ago, when men cursed and beat the ground with sticks, it was called witchcraft. Today it's called golf.

And, finally: If you don't learn to laugh at trouble, you won't have anything to laugh about when you're old.
